

TOOLKIT DEVELOPMENT

Visual Model

Flow Model

A flow model provides an overview of how roles within an organization or collaboration interact with one another, and the influences of communication flows both inside and outside the organization. It is invaluable for understanding communication flows, roles and responsibilities, and the relationships between these elements. A flow model is used to digitize communications flows to allow for further optimization of interactions in collaborations.

